

The jellyroll is one of the simplest of canes to make but, making a nicely balanced center isn't always so simple. Here's a way to make jellyrolls in which the centers are equally composed of both colors. Try this technique with three or more colors, too.

How to Make a Jellyroll

step 01

Select two colors - I've used black and white - rolled through a thick setting of your pasta machine. Place one sheet atop the other and trim the sides neatly with Nublade Kato, as shown, to form a square or rectangle.

step 02

Roll this sheet down to a thin setting and fold in half. From the fold, roll up tightly to form a finished jellyroll. Since I'll use this cane at its present size, I didn't bother to thin the unfolded end of the sheet.

Done.
